“A DAY IN THE LIFE”

Cornell School Class of 1894

The schoolmarms of Cornell School look forward to your participation in their One-Room School Program. In order to make your experience as authentic, educational and enriching as possible, we ask that you remember that the experience will be a re-enactment, as lifelike as possible, of a typical school day in early 1900's.

Our restored schoolhouse is furnished with slant-top desks, a vintage pot-belly stove, a recitation bench and McGuffey Readers. There are cloak rooms where students can place their lunch pails and coats.

Students will experience, and are expected to follow, the customs, school procedures and daily routine of the day. Students should be prepared to interact within this framework. They should, if at all possible, attempt to dress in period clothing as much as possible.

Please be aware that Cornell School is a short walk to the Johnstown High School and that students should be prepared to walk briefly outdoors for restroom breaks. Please dress appropriately.

Thank you in advance for your participation in what we are confident will be a very memorable educational experience. We look forward to seeing you soon!
